Rankin to Oppose Cantrill.

H. C. Rankin, Commissioner of Agriculture, was nominated Saturday by the Republican Convention in Frankfort for Congress in the Seventh Congressional district to oppose J. Campbell Cantrill, the Democratic nominee. The subcommittee of the Congressional Committee, composed of George J. Barnes of Franklin, H. Clay Howard of Bourbon, John Hutcheson of Owen, and W. J. Manby of Oldham, met at 10 o'clock and recommended that Rankin be selected as the Republican nominee.

The committee then adjourned to meet in mass convention at the Capital Hotel at 12 o'clock. R. C. Stoll, of Lexington, was elected chairman and W. J. Manby of Oldham, secretary of the convention. The report of the subcommittee was read by Manby and Rankin was unanimously chosen the Republican nominee.

Mr. Rankin, who was present, accepted the nomination. He said if elected he would represent no interest other than that of the people and could be depended upon to do what was right at all times.

Chairman Stoll then made a speech in which he paid a compliment to Commissioner Rankin. Acting Governor Cox, who was at the hotel, was invited into the convention and he made a short speech.

The members of the committee present were: C. H. Berryman of Fayette, H. Clay Howard of Paris, L. F. St. Clair of Scott, J. B. Hutcheson of Owen, George L. Barnes of Franklin, J. S. Blackwell of Henry, W. J. Manby of Oldham, and Charles Parrish of Woodford. Other Republicans present were Charles Kerr of Lexington, Charles Ward of Frankfort, W. S. Riner, J. T. Roberts and Amos Hall, Henry.

Effort to Forestall Pooling of Crop.

What is believed to be an effort on the part of the Tobacco Trust to forestall the pooling of the 1910 crop of tobacco has come to light. A tobacco buyer, claiming to represent Cincinnati parties has purchased about 400 acres of tobacco in Bourbon at prices ranging from twelve to fifteen cents per pound. The tobacco was purchased from growers in most every precinct in the county. Contracts were drawn between buyer and seller, in which the former assumes all risk of damage to the tobacco crop as a result of hailstorms, frost and damage by houseburning. Several prominent tobacco growers in Bourbon are reported to have disposed of their crops to the Cincinnati buyer.

The third day of the Bourbon Fair will be one of the biggest of the week. Thursday there will be many premiums offered, among which will be the Directors' Premium of $200 for the best saddle mare or gelding. This offer never fails to bring out the finest specimens of horse flesh and promises to be the greatest ring of show horses ever exhibited at a fair in Kentucky. Elemendorf Shorthorns.

The big herd of Shorthorn cattle, the property of Elemendorf farm, which will be exhibited at the Old Bourbon Fair, arrived Saturday and have been assigned to stables on the fair grounds.

The herd, which numbers eighteen individuals, is headed by the renowned show bull, King Cumberland, which has taken more blue strings than any show bull in the world, having only been defeated once, which occurred at the International Live Stock Show in Chicago.

The Elemendorf herd will have strong competition in the herds of Abram Renick of Clark, Joe Hall of Bourbon, and a prize winning herd of cattle from Shelby county.

The exhibit takes place on the first day of the fair, followed by the pony exhibit, which promises to be the best ever witnessed in the history of the county. Among the exhibitors will be Mr. Price of Lexington, Barbee Stock Farm, J. A. Wilson, Forrest Letton and others from Bourbon, besides a number of exhibitors from Clark and Montgomery counties and Western Kentucky.

Tariff and High Prices.

The whole tariff issue, as far as the great majority of the people are concerned, is the question of prices. All the caviling of politicians and the quibbling of those protected by the tariff cannot disguise the fact that under Republican tariff laws the cost of living has vastly increased, and many people have not received an advance in incomes or wages to meet the average enhanced price of all they buy. Nor can it be denied that under these Republican tariff laws there has been formed trusts and combinations which we have advanced the average price of commodities over 60 per cent during the past fourteen years. The protection theory that competition between manufacturers for the home markets keeps the price they charge for their products here within a reasonable scope even if they sell cheaper abroad has entirely broken down in consequence of combinations which have advanced prices beyond all that was thought possible. The high tariff rates on most articles prevent competition from abroad and the combining of manufacturers has very greatly eliminated competition at home, so that if the present tariff is continued there is no relief in sight.

There are two remedies that will rejoice these high prices; namely, to curb the trusts and combines so that home completion would in a measure prevail and to so reduce the tariff that competition from abroad will compel reasonable prices here.

The tariff is not responsible for all the vast increase in prices, neither are the trusts and combines; but these causes can be safe charged with more than half of the increase. Under a tariff for revenue only, prices have advanced in England about 25 per cent, and the causes for such increased are world wide. In protected Germany and France prices have increased as much as here and combinations in restraint of trade similar to our trusts are prevalent.

The republican politicians and stump speakers will, of course, try to before the tariff issue with a great mass of details and figures which but few can understand to tell the plain fact would give away the while protection theory, which is already breaking down of its own weight and the practical injustice of taxing all the people for the benefit of a few who are protected.

A Good many standpat congressmen are dropping out of the fight for a renomination, which shows that the trend is strongly towards Democracy.

Senator Smoot at the meeting of governors at Salt Lake said "he did not believe that Eastern interests were trying to control the West." Then why does Senator Smoot always vote for Senator Aldrich?

"Sonny Jim" Sherman and the President scored first blood in their fight with the Colonel, which shows that the administration is hanging together. The Colonel will have to take his innings later—perhaps.

Can the Republicans afford not to renominate President Taft? To do otherwise would acknowledge that his administration and policies have been a failure. That would be equal to defeat in advance, even with the Colonel as the candidate.

When it comes to the control of committees the "Old Guard" is on to the game but how does it fare at the election? Does any one believe that Jim Sherman, although he is Vice president, could beat Roosevelt for any position in republican ranks in New York or elsewhere?

Nick Longworth is backing up father-in-law as well as he can by going back on Uncle Joe, but the Colonel should see that Nick renounces Cannonism. Uncle Joe may soon enter the Astral plane, but all the awfulisms which he stands for must be discarded if the people are to gain.

National Forests as National Playgrounds.

Washington, D. C., August 27.—Before the years' outing season is over nearly half a million persons will have sought recreation and health in the National Forests of the United States. According to the record of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, the total last year was, in close figures, 406,775. With the finest mountain scenery and much of the best fishing and big game hunting in the United States, the National Forests, made more and more accessible each year through protection and development by the Government, are fast becoming great national playgrounds for the people.

The use of the forests for recreation is as yet in its beginning, but is growing steadily and rapidly in some of the forests at the rate of a hundred per cent per annum. The day seems not far distant when a million persons will annually visit them.

The records show that the seasonal use of the forests runs from two months in a Colorado forest, such as the Routt, to twelve months in an Alaskan, such as the Tongass. But the uses differ. In Colorado the 2,000 visitors entered the forest to fish, to camp, to climb, and to drink the medicinal waters; in Alaska the 1,000 almost solely to hunt and fish. The 21,000 persons who went into the Coconino forest, Arizona, during nine months went to camp or to enjoy the scenery.

During four months 50,000 persons visited the Angeles, California. The most popular of the forests is the Fike, containing the famous peak of that name. The various attractions within its limits, including the scenic railway, drew 100,000 tourists and others. By principal States the National Forest visitors numbered 23,000 in Arizona, 103,000 in California, 140,000 in Colorado, 19,000 in Montana, 10,000 in New Mexico, 33,000 in Oregon, 22,000 in Idaho, 16,000 in Utah, and 12,000 in Washington.

Of the natural wonders and landmarks of interest in the National Forests several have been set apart as National Monuments among them Cinder Cone, a great lava basin in California; the Gila Cliff Dwellings extensive remains of prehistoric race in New Mexico; the unsurpassed Grand Canyon of the Colorado; Lassen Peak, the terminus of a long line of extinct volcanoes in the Cascades; the Pinnacles, a collection of remarkable jagged peaks in California; and the Tonto, a group of prehistoric ruins in the Tonto Forest in Arizona. The Big Trees, Glacier Park the Petrified Forest, the Oregon Caves and numerous other phenomena serve to attract other hosts of visitors.

The sportsman finds his paradise in the National Forests. In many of them big game abounds. The rangers and the guards; besides the service they perform against the spread of fire often point out the best site for the camper and the easiest route. A record of 9,213 miles of trail cut, 1,236 miles of road laid out, and 4,851 miles of telephone line strung tells what the Government has done in the way of pushing conveniences of civilization into the primeval forest. The day of wilderness of the savage and the pioneer is swiftly passing; the day of National Forests as productive resources and as National parks approaches. The report of last year's administration by the U. S. Department of agriculture evidences the rapidity of the transformation.

Women's Secrets

There is one man in the United States who has perhaps heard more women's secrets than any other man or woman in the country. These secrets are not secrets of guilt or shame, but the secrets of suffering, and they have been confided to Dr. R. V. Pierce in the hope and expectation of advice and help. That few of these women have been disappointed in their expectations is proved by the fact that ninety-eight per cent. of all women treated by Dr. Pierce have been absolutely and altogether cured. Such a record would be remarkable if the cases treated were numbered by hundreds only. But when that record applies to the treatment of more than half a million women, in a practice of over 40 years, it is phenomenal, and entitles Dr. Pierce to the gratitude accorded him by women, as the first of specialists in the treatment of women's diseases.

Every sick woman may consult Dr. Pierce by letter, absolutely without charge. All replies are mailed, sealed in perfectly plain envelopes, without any printing or advertising whatever, upon them. Write without fear as without fee, to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Dr. R. V. Pierce, Pres., Buffalo, N. Y.

Bismarck and His Dog.

Sultan, Prince Bismarck's favorite hound, attacked a passing railroad train and was cut to pieces. Bismarck's grief over the dog's agonies was such that his son Herbert tried to lead him away, but the prince would not go. "No, I cannot leave him like this." Then, when the dog's sufferings were over, Bismarck wiped his eyes and murmured: "Our Teuton forefathers showed benevolence in their religion. They believed they would find in the hunting grounds of their paradise all the dogs that had been their faithful comrades here below. I wish I could believe that."

Marriage Music.

During my school days I met the late Professor Prout, who was as full of fun as he was of musical lore. It is said that at a wedding at which the late Dublin professor was presiding at the organ he played the happy couple in with "Wretched Lovers" and out with "Father, Forgive Them, For They Know Not What They Do!"—From "Fifty Years' Reminiscences of a Free Church Musician," by E. Minshall.

Handel as a Child.

George Frederick Handel, the son of a Saxon barber and valet, was only five years old when his "fingers wooed divine melodies" from the spinet, which a good natured aunt had smuggled for him into an attic, so that no sound of it might reach the ears of his father. At eight his playing so astonished the elector of Saxony that his father was compelled to withdraw his opposition and allow the genius of the boy to have fair play. And before he had reached his twelfth birthday young Handel was known throughout Germany as a brilliant composer and virtuoso at the court of the emperor.

A Pleasant Outlook.

"I wonder why the bride is crying," remarked one of the guests at the wedding. "Can it be because she is leaving home?" "No, it ain't that," answered the bride's small brother. "She's in love with the fellow she married, and I think she's crying 'cause she feels sorry for him."

It never does take a man long to explain when he is right or thinks he is right. It is when a man goes wrong that great long explanations are needed.

A ROMANCE IN SIGHT.

Started by the Unmasking of the Pair of Frauds.

Not until boarding houses cease to exist will all their romances be written. Shabby romances, some of them are, like that of the young woman who got so tired of being called "poor thing" because she received no invitations and had to eat all her meals at the boarding house table that she took to eating alone once in awhile at a cheap restaurant and then brazenly lying about the friends who had invited her to dinner.

There was a young man in that house who never went anywhere either. The first night the girl stayed out life's desolation nearly overpowered him. "Even that poor little white faced soul has made friends who want her," he said. "Nobody wants me. I'm no good on earth."

Then on rare occasions his place at the table was vacant. "New friends?" asked the landlady.

"Yes," lied the young man. One night the man and the girl met in a twenty-five cent restaurant. They blushed; they fended; they finally confessed.

"We're a pair of frauds," said the girl. "It's awful to think that tonight when we go home we will have to swear that we have been dining with friends."

"Well," said the young man, "ain't we?"—New York Press.

SHE WAS AGGRESSIVE.

Lucky For the Little Man He Was Not Her Husband.

The lady in the offside corner of the tramcar possessed a truculent air and a discolored eye.

"Funny thing any one can't take a penny ride without everybody glarin' at 'em," she remarked, fixing a small gentleman wearing gray whiskers and a somewhat rusty top hat with her normal optic.

The small gentleman suddenly became interested in a soap advertisement. "If any one can't 'ave a black eye without Tom, Dick and Harry askin' questions things are comin' to a pretty pass," continued the lady.

Silence, allied with soap advertisement study, though eminently discreet, was ineffective.

"You I'm a-talkin' to," The lady prodded the small gentleman's knee with her umbrella. "Bin settin' there this last ten minutes, you 'ave wonderin' if my 'usban' gives it to me. If it'll ease yer mind, 'e did. Is there anything else?"

"Madam," the small gentleman commenced, "had I been your husband?"

"I should 'a' got off at th' cemetery with a wreath instead o' goin' ter the 'orspiritual with a visitor's ticket," snapped the lady, "and the wreath wouldn't 'a' been expensive either."—London Ideas.

A Weary Celebrity.

When Mrs. Roger A. Pryor was a young woman living in Charlottesville, Va., visiting authors seldom reached the beautiful university town. "Thackeray, Dickens and Miss Martineau passed us by," says Mrs. Pryor in her book entitled "My Day—Reminiscences of a Long Life." But Frederika Bremer condescended to spend a night with her compatriot, Baron Schele de Vere of the university faculty, on her way to the south.

Schele de Vere invited a choice company to spend the one evening Miss Bremer granted him. Her works were extremely popular with the university circle, and every one was on tiptoe of pleased anticipation.

While the waiting company eagerly expected her the door opened—not for Miss Bremer, but for her companion, who announced:

"Miss Bremer, she beg excuse. She ver' tired and must sleep. If she come she gape in your noses."

Funerals in England.

At the time of Queen Victoria's funeral a writer in the Undertakers' Journal complained that, while royal burials were still conducted in an impressive manner, a sad lack of ceremonial distinguished the funerals of the nobility. "Item after item has been abandoned, idea after idea has been dropped, each meaning a distinct loss to our business. An undertaker in the west end, referring to the recent death of a noble lord, confided to me: 'Forty years ago I buried a member of that family, and the funeral bill came to £1,250 ($6,250). Ten years later I buried another, when it came to just over £700 ($3,500). Fifteen years ago I buried a third, at a cost of £320 ($1,600), but the bill for this one did not reach £75 ($375).'"

Origin of a Famous Saying.

Euclid, who is sometimes called the father of mathematics, taught this subject in the famous school at Alexandria. Being asked one day by the king of Egypt (Ptolemy Soter) whether he could not teach him the science in a shorter way, Euclid answered in words that have been memorable ever since, "Sire, there is no royal road to learning." Not many scraps of conversation have lived, as this reply has, for 2,200 years.

RATTLESNAKE BITES.

Simple Rules For Treatment if You Have the Nerve to Use Them.

The treatment of a rattlesnake wound resolves itself into the application of a few very simple rules. In the first place, a person wounded by a snake usually does the very thing he should not do—that is, goes tearing off at top speed for the nearest human habitation, thereby increasing the circulation and disseminating the virus through the system more rapidly. The man should sit calmly down and bind his handkerchief around the limb (if it is a limb), break off a stout twig and insert beneath the handkerchief, producing a rude tourniquet, and twist until the circulation is effectually shut off.

With a sharp knife make an X incision over the wound, taking care to penetrate deeper than the fangs have done. If he has good teeth and no canker in his mouth, he may now suck vigorously upon the wound. It does no good to suck the original wound. It is quite difficult to get any virus back through an opening not greater in caliber than a fine needle.

If all this is done without delay the chances are that the patient will suffer no greater inconvenience from his experience. If he chances to have handy a stick of silver nitrate he can cauterize the wound thoroughly. Failing that, a brand from the fire will serve. After a time he may release his tourniquet somewhat and permit a portion of the retained blood to enter the circulation. The system is capable of taking care of a great deal of poison if it is allowed to flow into the blood gradually.—Outing.

SET HIM THINKING.

The Reason His Wife Gave For Disliking Postponements.

Just when Mrs. Ackroyd had finished packing her trunks and after William Ackroyd had bought railway tickets for her and their two daughters little Bessie came down with a severe case of whooping cough. The doctor positively refused to let the child start on a long journey, and even if he had thought it safe for the little one to leave home he assured Mrs. Ackroyd that she would not be permitted to take the patient into a hotel anywhere. "Isn't it a shame?" the distressed lady wailed. "Here we are with everything in our trunks, and my husband has even bought our berths in the sleeper."

"It is unfortunate, but I don't know what you can do except sit down and wait four or five days. It may be safe then for you to start away."

When her husband got home that evening Mrs. Ackroyd was weeping.

"Don't take it so hard, dear," he said. "It might be a good deal worse. Our little one is likely to get along all right. The doctor says the case isn't an unusually severe one, and when I telephoned him this afternoon he said he thought it might be safe for you to start away by the end of the week."

"I know. He told me the same thing. But I feel that we'll never go. I never postponed anything yet that didn't turn out sadly. I once postponed a wedding, and the marriage never took place."

Half an hour later William Ackroyd was still sitting in a corner alone thinking it over.—Chicago Record-Herald.

Carrying a Bundle.

A stylish looking woman who looked as if she had rather die than carry a bundle that wouldn't go into a handbag went into the women's suit department of a big store lugging a pasteboard box half as big as herself. Other customers present wondered at her undignified action, but the saleswoman did not wonder.

"There is one time when the proudest woman on earth will carry a bundle," she said. "That is when some garment has been sent home finished off badly and has to be brought back for alterations. If the customer would only telephone to the store we would send for the garment, but that would take time. Alaska's Coast Region.

The coast region of Alaska has a mild climate, not colder than the northern part of Puget sound or of Scotland. The stand of trees is dense, averaging for considerable areas 25,000 feet per acre. Sitka spruce forming about 20 per cent of the stand and western hemlock about 75 per cent. Although by far the most abundant species, western hemlock does not produce as large individual trees as the spruce or western red cedar, the former occasionally showing a diameter of six feet with a height of 150 feet and the cedar diameters of from three to four feet.

BOURBON COUNTY COURT.

In the Matter of the Petition to Establish a Graded Common School at Little Rock, Kentucky.

JUDGMENT:

This cause having been heretofore called for trial and the parties having appeared in person and by attorney, and the court having heard the evidence and the arguments of Counsel, and being sufficiently advised, renders the following judgment:

The defendants, James H. Hopkins, Everett Hopkins and Joseph S. Hopkins, having produced the written consent, now filed herein, of Willis Ham, trustee of Letton District, to permit said Hopkins to be included in the proposed graded common school district, the lines of which as heretofore drawn, includes a portion of said James H. Hopkins' farm, but not the portion upon which James H. Hopkins, Everett Hopkins and Joseph S. Hopkins reside, and the petitioners having produced the written consent of R. H. Burris and Edwin Thomason trustees, now filed herein, for F. M. Gillispie and Jesse N. Fishback to be included in the said proposed graded common school district, the said written consent with reference to said Hopkins and the said Gillispie and the said Fishback being ordered to be made a part of the record herein, and it appearing from the statement of James H. Hopkins, in open court, that he prefers to have his entire farm in this proposed graded common school district, and it appearing from the statement of Jesse N. Fishback, in open court, that he prefers his entire farm in Bourbon county to be in this proposed graded common school district, but it appearing from the statement of F. M. Gillispie, in open court, that he prefers that no part of his home place be taken in this said proposed graded common school district, the Court is of the opinion that in fixing the boundary of the proposed graded common school district, the farm of the said James H. Hopkins should be included, and that the farm of Jesse N. Fishback, in Bourbon county, should be included, and that the home place of F. M. Gillispie should be excluded, and it appearing to the court that the petition herein has been signed by more than ten legal voters who are tax payers in the Justices' District of Bourbon county, embraced in the boundary herein set out, and all other things appearing from the evidence herein necessary to entitle the petitioners to the relief asked, and the County Judge and the petitioners having agreed upon the particular boundary herein set out, to-wit:

Beginning in the middle of Hinkston under the iron bridge, known as the Fishback bridge, and thence down the middle of Hinkston as it meanders to a point on Hinkston where Chas. Squires & Brother and John F. Young corner, thence along the line between the tract of land formerly owned by E. B. Soper and now owned by Squire Bros., and the adjoining land owned by Squire Bros., and which was owned by them prior to the purchase by them of the E. B. Soper land, to the point where the lands of Squire Bros., formerly owned by E. B. Soper, and the adjoining tract owned by Squire Bros., and the lands of James H. Hopkins corner, thence along the line between James H. Hopkins and the land of Squire Bros. (to-wit the tract of land owned by Squire Bros., prior to the purchase by them of the E. B. Soper tract of land) to a point in the center of the Little Rock and Jacktown turnpike where the lands of James H. Hopkins and Squire Bros. corner continuing in a straight line thence between the lands of James H. Hopkins and Miss Maude Bramlette to the point where Thomas Sleds, James H. Hopkins and Miss Maude Bramlette corner, thence along the line between said Hopkins and Sleds to that gate in their line fence through which the said Sleds passes to and from the Little Rock and Jacktown turnpike, thence in a straight line to and including the residence of Jesse Smith, now occupied by Thomas Wasson and Bascomb Bonta, thence in a straight line to the residence, including it, occupied by Lee Cravens and owned by Mrs. Brice Steel and formerly the residence of the late Thomas Woodford, thence to a stone now set in the South margin of the Paris and Little Rock turnpike about seventy-five feet from a point on said pike where Roseberry and Cain corner on said pike, thence in a straight line to a point in the John Skillman Sr.'s pike on top of hill south-west of Skillman's residence where Will Young and the lands of the estate of John W. Skillman, Sr., corner on said pike, thence in a straight line to the main house, including it, on the farm lately sold by W. C. Wilkerson to Yvonne Brice, thence in a straight line to a point in John Collins' line where Henry Caywood and Mrs. Johnson corner, thence in a straight line to and including the residence of Miss Belle Horton, thence in a straight line to the junction of the Rock Bridge pike with the North Midletown and Levy pike, thence with the middle thereof with the meandering of the said Rock Bridge pike to a point on said pike where James Clarke and Ben Dalzell corner, thence in a straight line to L. S. Crouch's home place, now occupied and owned by Chas. Frazier, including said residence, thence in a straight line to a stone now set on Levy & Judy pike near John McDaniels' residence and two and one-half miles by a straight line from the location of the center of the graded school site at Little Rock, thence in a straight line to Ned Gillispie's new gate on Payton Lick pike (to-wit: his gate on Payton Lick pike nearest the terminus on said pike of the dirt road leading to the Burris school house, being about fifty or one hundred yards, more or less, from the terminus of said dirt road on said pike) thence from said gate in a straight line to and including the residence owned by John Burris, and occupied by Chas. Hopkins, thence to the front gate of said residence on the Carlisle and Rogers Mill pike, thence to the middle of said pike as it meanders to the fork of the Carlisle and Rogers Mill pike at the foot of Johnson's Hill, thence along the line between Ned Gillispie and Jonathan Burris to a point in Jonathan Burris' line where said Gillispie and Mrs. Kate Bryan corner, thence along the line between Mrs. Kate Bryan and the lands of Ned Gillispie to the line of Roger Burris thence along the line between Roger Burris and Ned Gillispie to the point where they corner with Roy Burris, near Boone creek bridge, thence with the line of Ned Gillispie and Roy Burris to the center of the Carlisle and Rogers Mill pike, thence along the middle of said pike to the point where Jesse N. Fishback and Anderson Bonta corner in said pike, thence leaving the pike so as to include in this graded common school district the land of Jesse N. Fishback lying on the South side of Hinkston in Bourbon county and running with his outer boundary from said pike to Hinkston, thence with the middle of Hinkston to the point of beginning, but all of the land now owned by F. M. Gillispie, (otherwise known and called Ned Gillispie,) are excluded from this graded common school district, except, however, the farm of 129 acres and 3 rods conveyed by E. T. Talbee to F. M. Gillispie & Son by deed of record in the office of the Clerk of Bourbon County Court in Deed Book 94, page 272, and said farm of 129 acres and 3 rods is included in said graded common school district.

It is ordered and entered upon the order book of this court that the boundary of the proposed graded common school district as agreed upon by the County Judge and the petitioners be fixed, and it is hereby fixed as above set out, and the sheriff of Bourbon county is directed to open a poll in said proposed graded common school district on the eighth day of October 1910, for the purpose of taking the sense of the legal white voters in said proposed graded common school district upon the proposition whether or not they will vote an annual tax of 35 cents on each one hundred dollars of property assessed in said proposed graded common school district belonging to white voters or corporations, and a poll tax of $1.50 per capita on each white male inhabitant over twenty-one years of age residing in said proposed graded common school district, 25 cents of the 35 cents on each one hundred dollars of assessed property to be used for the purpose of maintaining a graded common school in said district and the remaining 10 cents of the 35 cents on each one hundred dollars of assessed property to be used for the purpose of purchasing and erecting suitable buildings therefor. It shall be the duty of the County Clerk to give to said sheriff a certified copy of this order as it appears on the order book within ten days after said order is made. To the foregoing judgment the defendants, F. M. Gillispie, C. H. Frazier, James H. Hopkins, William Thomas, Clarence Rolle, John L. Soper, R. P. Hopkins, B. F. Hopkins and H. F. Hopkins, object and accept. A Copy Attest:

Given under my hand this 19th day of August, 1910.

The Oldest Fair.

The Bourbon Fair is the oldest fair in the State. The sixty-fourth annual exhibition will be given on September 6-10, inclusive. It was better last year than ever and promises to excel in every respect this year. Exhibitors should write the Secretary at once for entry blanks.

The Happy Girl.

No trait of a girl's character is more prized than a sweet and happy disposition. It makes the home life bright, it smooths away the little roughnesses, and it is like a ray of sunshine that brightens the darkest corners and drives away discontent and gloom. The happy girl makes the happy and contented wife, who will bring her girlhood's endearing qualities to make fresh sunshine in her new home.—Home Notes.

About the Only Thing Left.

"My present patient," said the pretty nurse, "is very exacting. 'Wants something all the time.' 'Never mind. He may ask you to marry him.' 'I wouldn't be surprised if he did. He has about run out of other requests.'"

BASE BALL.

FRIDAY.

The entry of the Maysville club into the Blue Grass League in that city Friday with its first game on the home grounds, resulted in a defeat by a score of seven to one in favor of the Paris team. A crowd of more than eight hundred was present to see the game.

The Maysville team was handicapped by being short of regular players and had to import a pitcher from Ludlow. The features were the fielding and hitting of Kaiser, the hitting of Scott and Chapman and the playing of Dressel. SATURDAY.

The two games between Paris and Maysville in the latter city Saturday brought out a good crowd to see the Bourbonites win the first game by a score of 6 to 2. The second game was called in the eighth inning on account of darkness, with a tie score of 3 to 3. Maysville tried out five pitchers in the first game, but none of them seemed to stop the onslaught of the Bourbonites. Both games were better played than that of Friday, the second game being especially good. The pitching of Williams was the feature of the two games. He struck out nine men and forced the tie score. Scores: Maysville.....1 0 1 0 0 0 0 0—2 Paris.....3 0 0 2 0 0 0 1—6 Batteries—Paris, Scheneberg and Thau; Maysville, Kennedy, Nelson, Hughes, Mowrey, Clift and Schultz. Errors—Paris 5; Maysville 3. SUNDAY.

Before one of the largest crowds of the season Paris went down to defeat Sunday at the hands of the Winchester Hustlers by the score of 9 to 2. Toney was invincible allowing only four hits. He walked only one man and sent nine of the Bourbonites slugging to the bench on strikes. Winchester was unable to find the plate and in the second session walked two men and hit another filling the bases. Toney then hit to right and on the relay of the ball by Goodman which went wild three men scored, Toney taking third. In the third for the visitors Kircher the first up singled to left and reached second on Scott's fumble of Mullins' grounder. Both men advanced a base on Barney's bunt, the ball hitting the former's bat and rolling slowly toward Winchester, Coleman then hit a hard one that Barnett partly knocked down, Kircher and Mullins scoring. Winchester then retired, Harold being substituted.

The visitors kept up their work of hammering the ball scoring two runs in the sixth on a base on balls, a single by Callahan and a double by Reed. Another was put over the rubber in the eighth on a single by Gosetree, a sacrifice by Yeager and singles by Toney and Callahan. In the ninth the Hustlers got their last run. Coleman drove a beauty to deep left for two bases, stole third and walked in on a balk. Paris got their two tallies in the fifth and sixth. Score: Paris.....0 0 0 1 1 0 0 0—2 Winchester.....0 3 2 0 2 0 1 1—9 Batteries—Paris, Winchell, Harrell, Thau; Winchester, Toney and Kircher. Errors—Paris 0; Winchester 3. Hits—Paris 4; Winchester 12. Earned runs—Winchester 4; Paris 1. Two base hits—Coleman 2, Reed, Barnett, Kaiser. Base on balls—off Winchell 2; off Harold 4; off Toney 1. Hit by pitched ball—Gosetree. Struck out by Winchell 2; by Harold 1; by Toney 9. Sacrifice hit—Yeager. Stolen bases—McKernan, Coleman. Left on bases—Winchester 8; Paris 3. Double plays—Thau to Scott. Time—2:05. Attendance—1,600. Umpire Brady.

MONDAY.

The Bourbonites lost the first game of the series to the Frankfort Senators yesterday afternoon at White Park by a score of 3 to 2. Winchell was on the mound for the locals and while he held the visitors to seven safe drives, they were able to bunch hits in the second and fourth innings which counted for three tallies. Several times during the contest the locals had men on bases but Cramer would not allow hits when placed in this position. The locals scored one run in each the sixth and seventh innings.

Paris.....0 0 0 0 1 1 0 0—2 Frankfort.....0 1 0 2 0 0 0 0—3 Batteries—Paris, Winchell and Holder; Frankfort, Cramer and Angemeier. Hits—Paris 11; Frankfort 7. Errors—Paris 1; Frankfort 2. Earned runs—Paris 1; Frankfort 3. Two base hits—Kuhlman. Sacrifice hits—Chapman, Kaiser, Hoch, Hicks. Stolen bases—Goodman, Chapman, Angemeier. Struck out—by Cramer 10; by Winchell 6. Wild pitch—Cramer. Hit by pitcher—Angemeier. Left on bases—Frankfort 5; Paris 11. Double plays—McKernan to Barnett. Umpires—Frye and Hanly. Time—2 hours.

Paris will play here today, the Frankfort Senators being the attraction. Wednesday they go to Maysville for a double header, and play there on Thursday and Friday the Colts will be here for a game which is sure to prove one of the most interesting of the season, the locals have one game the best of it on the season's play and the Sheets-Yancey aggregation will struggle hard to even up matters.

Paris has yet five scheduled games with the Colts, besides two postponed games and one tie game. The Colts are playing good ball and having struck their gait they have been slowly crawling up on the Bourbonites and from now till the close of the season the eight games to be played will be fiercely and hotly contested for.

Saturday Paris invades the Capital for another game with the Lawmakers and return home for a double header Sunday with Maysville.

Watch for the Pony.

Pony given away at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

Work on New Bridge Begins Today.

Work on the construction of the new railroad bridge spanning Houston creek and Main street near Second will be commenced this morning. Orders to begin the immediate reconstruction of the bridge were issued from the office of the L. & N. about two weeks ago.

Owing to the vast increase in the amount of traffic on the line, which necessitated the bringing into service the heaviest locomotives, it was deemed advisable to reconstruct the bridge to insure perfect safety. The big bridge is seven hundred feet long and will be torn away and replaced without the stopping of the trains.

The new bridge will be of the viaduct type, and the work will be entirely under the supervision of Mr. Harry Stamler, Supervisor of Bridges and Buildings. It will cost over $50,000. Workmen to the number of 25 will be employed constantly for a period of three months, the length of time it is estimated that will be required to rebuild the bridge.

The stone pier or abutment that supports the present bridge on the East side of Main street, will be torn away and a new pier built, further removed from the street, and this improvement which is voluntarily made by and at the expense of the L. & N., will admit of the widening of the street and sidewalk at this point, where it has always been very narrow and dangerous. The present pier is strong and substantial, and could be retained, but the L. & N. has decided to make this improvement for the benefit of the city.

When the new viaduct bridge is completed the heaviest types of locomotives used can then be run on this line which will enable longer trains and heavier loads to be hauled over the lines.

One of the features of the new bridge will be changes to be made in the foot bridge which is daily used by hundreds of people, and especially by the crowds that attend the ball games at White Park. The foot bridge when completed will be on a level at the north end and no steps will be necessary to reach the bridge from the road that enters White Addition. At the south end on Main street several steps will be used to ascend to the bridge level.

Childish Guess.

"Mamma," said little George, after seeing the black clouds disappear and noting the sunshine, "has God washed the sky?"

Many Attractive Features.

The sixty-fourth annual fair under the auspices of the Bourbon County Agricultural Society, will be held at the grounds of the Society in Paris five days commencing September 6. Big premium list and many other attractive features.

MATRIMONIAL.

The Lexington Herald says: "The marriage of Miss Isabella West Marshall to Dr. Graham Edgar of Charlottesville, Va., will be quietly solemnized Thursday evening at 6:30 o'clock at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Alfred Marshall on Rose street, the Rev. The other attendants will be Misses Katherine Hopson, Margaret Hart, Sarah Chorn and Louise Rhodes who will form the aisle. The ceremony will be followed by a reception and the couple will leave immediately afterward for a trip and will then go to Charlottesville to make their home. The wedding will be a beautiful event of the week and only kinsmen and most intimate friends will be present."

A marriage license was issued Saturday to Mr. Leary McBee and Miss Ida Jenkins, of Harrison county. They were united in marriage by Judge Denis Dundon.

—A Mr. Herman Lee Case, and Miss Elizabeth Thorp, of Georgetown, were united in marriage in the parlors of the Fordham Hotel Monday afternoon, the Rev. G. W. Clark of the Baptist church officiating. The couple were accompanied by Mr. J. W. Thorp, Jr., a brother of the bride.

Weber's Band.

One of the most pleasing features of the Bourbon Fair which is to be held in this city September 6-10 inclusive, will be the music which is to be furnished by Weber's Military Band of Cincinnati. Last year the musical program greatly pleased the patrons of the fair and the officers of the society this year secured the services of Weber and his celebrated band to furnish the music.

Donations for the Fair Dinners.

The ladies of the Methodist church have secured the concession to serve meals at the fair grounds during the fair and donations are being solicited. The Methodist congregation recently suffered the loss of its church by fire and the ladies with a view of raising funds with which to assist in replacing the building. Town and country people should contribute liberally to this worthy cause and donations should come in plenty. Those who attended the fair last year and visited the dining room are acquainted with the sumptuousness of the meals served by the Methodist ladies and this year they will no doubt eclipse all their previous efforts.

Free Remedy For Weak Bowels

There are two forms of bodily cleanliness, the external and the internal. The one is for your pride in yourself; the other for your life and health. Both are important, but of vastly more importance in the long run is the internal cleanliness.

This is one point that all should watch about their body—the cleanliness of the bowels. Keep them clean and free from obstructions. To do this you must have one or two movements of the bowels each twenty-four hours. If your system does not do this naturally, in the process of eating and drinking, then you must obtain aid of some kind. After finding out that cathartics, salts and such things relieve you for a day, but bind you up worse than ever the next day, then try a simpler and more natural remedy like Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

For the skeptical the best way to begin is to send your name and address to Dr. Caldwell for a free sample bottle. Use it as directed and if it convinces you that a brief continuance of its use will relieve you permanently—that it will train the stomach and bowel muscles to again work naturally at certain hours—then buy it of your druggist at fifty cents and one dollar a bottle, just as so many others are doing. They began with a sample bottle, then bought a fifty cent bottle, and now, fully convinced of its merits, they buy the one dollar family size. All the members of the family can use it down to the very youngest.

A brief use of this grand laxative tonic will cure constipation in its worst form, indigestion, liver trouble, sick headache, sour stomach and such ailments and keep you in continuous good health at a very small cost. Such is the experience of many families like that of Mrs. Oscar Fleener, Unionville, Ind., J. F. Daniel, Saron, Tex., and hundreds of others that could be named.

Dr. Caldwell personally will be pleased to give you any medical advice you may desire for yourself or family pertaining to the stomach, liver or bowels absolutely free of charge. Explain your case in a letter and he will reply to you in detail. For the free sample simply send your name and address on a postal card or otherwise. For either request the doctor's address is Dr. W. E. Caldwell, R. 500 Caldwell building, Monticello, Ill.

Saved From Awful Peril.

"I never felt so near my grave," writes Lewis Chamblin, of Manchester, Ohio, R. R. And that I am alive today is due solely to Dr. King's New Discovery, which completely cured me. Now I weigh 160 pounds and can work hard. It also cured my four children of croup." Infallible for coughs and colds, its most certain remedy for, laryngitis, asthma, desperate lung trouble and all bronchial affections. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by Oberdorfer's.

It has proved a most efficient medicine for stomach, liver and kidney troubles. We regard it as one of the best family medicines on earth." It invigorates all vital organs, purifies the blood, aids digestion, creates appetite. To strengthen and build up pale, thin, weak children or rundown people it has no equal. Best for female complaints. Only 50c, at Oberdorfer's.

Often all a man earns goes to doctors or for medicine to cure a stomach, liver or kidney trouble that Dr. King's New Life Pills would quickly cure at slight cost. Best for dyspepsia, indigestion, biliousness, constipation, jaundice, malaria and debility. 25c, at Oberdorfer's.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

His Glimpse of War

By R. W. KEENAN

Copyright, 1910, by American Press Association.

In 1870, having been just graduated from college, I went abroad to see something of the world before settling to my life work. There was a great deal to see at that time—namely, one of the biggest wars of modern times. The Germans under Von Moltke were marching across the French border. Landing at Cherbourg, I went directly to Paris and, taking letters from the American minister, set out for the front to get a glimpse of war. Having been ten years too late in my birth to take part in our own great struggle in America, I was extremely desirous to witness a similar contest between the French and the Germans.

I was received kindly at the headquarters of Marshal MacMahon, but there were few great battles, and the two nations did not seem disposed to fight one for the benefit of a young American who had come across an ocean to see "the fun." So after remaining for a time with the French I determined to join the Germans. I realized that passing from one army to its opposing one during actual war was a serious business, but I had heard so much of the thrilling episodes of war from friends who had fought in the American contest that my young blood was fired to participate in a similar affair. So, selecting a point between the lines where the French had no outposts, I left them and, walking down a road, was taken in by a Russian vedette.

This was rather a tame adventure, and I was on the lookout for something more exciting. Though I was not aware of it, something more exciting was on the lookout for me.

I presented my credentials, which were my passport and my letters to the French commanders. I had struck the troops under General Manteufel, and it was at his headquarters that the documents were examined. I was treated with the utmost civility by the officers of his staff. Indeed, I could not but contrast the attention I received with that of the French officers, who upon the statement of the American minister, vouching for me, permitted me to go pretty much where I pleased, but paid little heed to me. The Prussians showered me with attentions, but I was not permitted to go about at all. Indeed, excuses were made to keep me at headquarters.

One evening General Manteufel's chief of staff gave a dinner at which were several ladies. I was the guest of honor and was seated beside a very beautiful woman who spoke English with a broken accent. I was young and correspondingly susceptible; therefore it is not surprising that before the evening was spent I had fallen under a spell which, had I been older, I might have seen was purposely thrown over me. Before the party broke up I and this lady were left alone together. Suddenly her manner changed from lightness to intense seriousness.

"I am being watched," she said.

"Watched?"

"Yes; they know my mission."

"What mission?"

"I saw you at MacMahon's headquarters. I was receiving my instructions while you were there. Save me!"

"How?"

"They know that MacMahon has sent some one into their lines for information. If you take the risk for a time I will go free. If suspected you can prove that you are an American and will not suffer. I cannot prove that I am not a Frenchwoman. Here is the information I bear. Take it. If they find it on me I die. Keep it for me till the danger is past, then give it to me."

She thrust a little roll of tissue paper upon me. At the moment she did so a Prussian officer entered, and I had no opportunity to hand it back without being seen. To do so would be equivalent to informing the officer that she was a spy.

But if found with the paper in my possession I would be shot.

From that moment I was not for a second free from observation. When we were about to depart the chief of staff came to me and said:

"We move at 2 o'clock. The general will have no one except soldiers with us. We have kept you at headquarters for your own good. You have seen nothing; therefore you may go back whence you came."

Without waiting for a reply he conducted me to the picket line. Glad to go free with the lovely spy's pellet, I walked hastily away. I was followed and arrested. Taken back to General Manteufel's headquarters, I was searched and the paper found on me.

As I was being led away I passed the lady who had given me the paper. The officers were apologizing to her for something, and I heard them tell her her carriage was waiting for her.

I was kept under guard till morning, when an officer came hurrying toward me. As soon as he reached me he said angrily, "You are a fool!"

"I am at any rate not a spy."

"No; the real spy has gone. We learned that some one was among us and suspected two persons who came in at the same time—this woman and yourself. As soon as the woman had gone beyond our reach she sent us proof that she was in MacMahon's service and had duped you. You will depart for our rear at once."

I had had all of war I wanted and went.

WALTER A. WOOD MOWERS

Are Different From All Others

When the late Walter A. Wood built his first mower in 1852 it was upon a principle entirely different from any other. That same principle today distinguishes his mowers from all others. It is the "floating frame" principle. It is fully in our catalog. All manufacturers of mowers admit that the "direct under-draft" principle is the correct one—but they can't use it because genuine underdraft is possible only with the "floating frame" construction which is exclusive to Walter A. Wood Mowers. We feel justified in asserting that our mowers are: the easiest running; lightest draft; handiest to operate; least expensive to keep in repair and longest lived. The mow-er that leads on these points is the mow-er it will pay the farmer to buy. There are many other good points fully illustrated and described in our Catalog.
Write for it today.

The Fashionable Tailored Suits for Autumn.

"No ripple of fullness will be visible anywhere in the tailored suits for autumn," says Grace Margaret Gould in Women's Home Companion for September. "Skirts will be short and very close cut. But Paris goes too far, she becomes very far off when she advocates a skirt a yard and a half around. If the American woman wore a skimpy skirt of this sort, she would never be able to walk gracefully, and hopping is not exactly in her line.
Paris makes a mistake when she dictates to American women the absurd.
"However, all the new skirts will have the long, narrow effect. Even the sleeves of the tailored suit will carry out this idea. They will be long and plain and put in at the shoulder without any fullness whatever. And it is quite noticeable that as they near the wrist they will widen out a trifle
just to emphasize the straight line effect."

"The twenty-four-inch length coat will be more fashionable than the thirty-inch, and the twenty-six inch and the twenty-eight inch lengths will undoubtedly be the most popular of all.
A number of the new short coats suggest the box coat of other seasons.
Since the cost of the tailored suit is to be short, this brings into fashion again the very long separate coat which is here and here to stay throughout the fall and winter, for in dress, like many other things variety is welcomed by the American woman."

Typographical Errors.

Speaking of typographical errors in newspapers, James R. Tanner, of New York, a former printer and newspaper man, talking to a Washington
Herald reporter recently said:

"Two articles had been prepared for a New York daily, one containing a sermon preached by an eminent divine, and the other about the freaks of a mad dog. Unfortunately, the forman, when 'making up' the form,
'mixed' them, producing an article which ran something like this: 'The Rev. James Thompson, rector of St.
Andrew's church, preached to a large concourse of people on Sunday last.
This was his last sermon. In a few weeks he will bid farewell to his congregation, as his physicians advise him to cross the Atlantic. He exhorted his brethren and sisters, and after offering a devout prayer took a whim to cut up some frantic freaks. He ran up Timothy street to Johnson, and down benefit street to College. At this stage of the proceedings a couple of boys seized him, tied a tin kettle to his tail, and he again started, and for a time there was a grand scene of noise, running and confusion. After some trouble he was shot by a policeman.'"

Cornell Has Not Been Sold.

In some way the impression has been given that Pitcher Cornell of the Frankfort base ball club, has been sold to one of the bigger leagues.
Such is not the case, however, as only Angemier has been sold. Unless some big league club drafts Cornell at the end of the season he will be put on the reserve list of the Frankfort club for next year. The national base ball agreement provides that any club in a league of higher class may draft any player out of the smaller clubs at the end of the season by paying $300 for him. Cornell may be drafted by some club at the end of the season, but he has not been sold. If he is drafted the Frankfort management will get $300
for him.

Walker Succeeds Sauley.

Hon Louis L. Walker of Lancaster, is the new Circuit Judge in the Thirteenth Judicial District composed of the counties of Garrard, Lincoln, Boyle and Mercer. Announcement was made Friday of his appointment by Acting Governor Cox to fill the vacancy on the bench caused by the recent death of Judge M. C. Sauley, of Stanford.

Lightning.

Lightning has struck, plucked feathers from and insides out of chickens, and, better than some cooks, roasted them to a proper turn for the table. It has roasted apples on the tree and corn on the stalk, and has struck goober and potato vines, and cooked the goobers and tubers in the very ground.

Variety.

New Maid—"Please, mum, there's a man at the door come to collect on something yez bought on the instalment plan." Mistress—"Ask him whether it's the encyclopedia, the phonograph, the brass bed, the piano,
or the sewing-machine."—Harper's Bazar.

Cultivation of Love.

Love must be cultivated, and can be increased by judicious culture, as wild fruits may double their bearing under the hand of a gardener; and love can dwindle and die out of neglect, as choice flower seeds planted in poor soil dwindle and grow single.—
Harriet Beecher Stowe.

To Err Is Human.

In view of the haste with which the average daily newspaper is built its mistakes should not be taken too seriously. The Fourth Estate says that even the judge on the bench has his decisions set aside by the higher courts, and yet, although his judgment is reversed, he does not suffer in the least in public or professional estimation.

Early Glass Factories.

As early as 1623 a small glass factory was put in operation at Salem, Mass., and William Penn refers to a factory that was opened by the Quakers of Philadelphia in 1683. A glass maker named Jan Sneedes finally received a Lonus of land on Manhattan island for the purpose of opening a factory. The business he carried on for some years gave the name of Glassmaker's street to what is now South William street. As early as 1754 a small glass factory was built in Brooklyn.

MEMORIES OF MARK TWAIN.

Two Letters the Humorist Wrote to Henry Watterson.

"Mark Twain—An Intimate Memory," is the title of Henry Watterson's article about his cousin as it appears in the American Magazine. Mr. Wattersen recites the following incident as being typical of Mark Twain's whimsical point of view:

"His mind turned ever to the dröle.
Once in London I was living with my family at 103 Mount street. Between 103 and 102 there was the parochial workhouse—quite a long and imposing building. One evening, upon coming in from an outing, I found a letter he had written on the sitting room table and left with his card. He spoke of the shock he had received upon finding that next to 102—presumably 103—was the workhouse. He had loved me, but had always feared that I would end by disgracing the family—being hanged, or something—but the 'work'us,' that was beyond him: he had not thought it would come to that.
And so on through pages of horseplay,
his relief on ascertaining the truth and learning his mistake, his regret at not finding me at home, closing with a dinner invitation. Once at Geneva, in Switzerland, I received a long, overflowing letter, full of buoyant op-timities, written from London. Two or three hours later came a telegram:
'Burn letter. Blot it from your memory. Susie is dead.'"
Susie was Mrs. Clemens.

TURKISH WOMEN.

They Are Curiously Fastidious In
Some of Their Ways.

The habits of the Turkish women of Constantinople are wonderfully fastidious. For instance, when they wash their hands at a tap from which water runs into a marble basin the fair ones will let the water run until a servant shuts it off, inasmuch as to do this themselves would render them "unclean." They cannot open for shut a door, as the handle would be unclean.
One of these fastidious women was not long ago talking to a small niece who had just received a present of a doll from Paris. By and by the child laid the doll in the lady's lap. She was horrified and ordered the child to take it away. As the little girl would not move it and no servant was near and the lady would be defiled by touching a doll that had been brought from abroad, the only resource left her was to jump up and let the doll fall. It broke in pieces.
Another Turkish woman would not open a letter coming by post, but required a servant to break the seal and hold the missive near her that it might be read; also should her handkerchief fall to the ground it was immediately destroyed or given away, so that she might not again use it.—Exchange.

Defoe and Savings Banks.

Though Duncan of Duthwell was the founder of our first savings bank, the first suggestion came from Daniel Defoe. When he found himself compelled to hide from the bailiffs in a small Bristol Inn he turned his enforced leisure and financial failure to account by writing the "Essay on Projects." It deals with savings banks, friendly societies, insurance, academies and bankrupts. On all these subjects Defoe offers from his fertile brain suggestions that startle the reader by their modern ring. On bankrupts and savings banks Defoe naturally wrote with feeling.
During his stay in Bristol he was known as "the Sunday gentleman," owing to his natural unwillingness to take the air except on that day of the week which deprived bailiffs of their sting.—London Chronicle.

A Cup of Sugar.

A large china cup with a handle was shoved across the counter and a child's voice said, "Ma wants a cupful of sugar."

The grocer filled the cup, weighed the sugar, poured it back into the cup and said, "Two cents."

To a customer who expressed surprise at his willingness to sell groceries in such small quantities he said:

"Have to in this neighborhood. Most of these people live from meal to meal, which means that they buy things by measure instead of weight. Reckoned by the cupful, the spoonful or the pail-ful, they know just how much of anything they need. In order to satisfy both customers and the inspector of weights and measures we measure first to suit the trade, then weigh afterward."—New York Sun.

His Trick.

A pearl belonging to her brooch had got fastened in the lace of her collar.
He offered to disentangle it.

"That's a great trick of mine," he said as he wrestled with it. "Separating pearls from"—

"People?" she interrupted in a fright.
"No," said he; "from laces."—New York Press.

Knew What He Was Doing.

Booby from whom old gent has just received 5 sovereigns at 4 to 1.—
Now, then, Santa Claus, what are you biting 'em for? Do you think I'd give you wrong uns? Old Gent—Noa, laddy, it's no that; I'm just making sure that I haven't got that one back which I passed off on thee!—London Punch.

A Poultry Fable.

The hen returned to her nest and found it empty.

"Very funny," said she; "I can never find things where I lay them."—Lippincott's.

For one who can stand prosperity
there are a hundred that will stand adversity.—Carlyle.

Value of Ambidexterity.
As a matter of fact, ambidexterity is necessary in several professions and occupations. Surgery and piano playing may be given as examples. Many military authorities are strongly in favor of teaching soldiers to be ambidextrous in the use of the pistol, lance and sword.

In the Matrimonial Sea.
When it comes to the sea of marriage there are fewer lobsters living in it than there are sailing on it.

Qualities Widely Apart.
Admiration and familiarity are strangers.—George Sand.

Only One.
Little Jack's mother showed him a letter from a "new aunt," who had attained to this relationship by marrying Jack's favorite uncle. "Mamma," said Jack innocently, as he laboriously spelled out the signature, "Belle Paine," "does aunty pronounce her front name in two syllables?"—Lippincott's.

Daily Health Hint.

Understand that if you are mentally unified with sickness, old age and death, no amount of desire or affirmation can make you well, young, or long lived. To be healthy, you must be mentally in unity with health; to remain young, you must be mentally one with youth, and to live long, you must be mentally unified with life, says Wallace D. Wattles in the Nautilus.

Invention of Cut Glass.

Pressed glass was invented by an humble carpenter of Sandwich, Mass., but in the primitive state of affairs it profited him little. More than 200 years ago a Bohemian glass-maker conceived the idea of making cut glass. This idea was destined to revolutionize the entire glass industry of the world. The inventor began by making the walls of the article on which he was working thicker than he was wont so that he might cut the glass with a sharp knife into figures as he chose.

Practical Joke Almost Fatal.

A ghastly practical joke is reported from Corsica. Some men were hoisting sacks of flour at a granary in the Commune of Loretto, when a woman came to the mill to make a purchase. Thinking that it would be a good joke, one of the men placed the rope round the woman's neck, and the next second she was swung off her feet. On reaching the first floor she was senseless, and energetic efforts had to be made to bring her round.

Primitive Chinese Currency.

Writing from the interior of China, a traveler says: "Currency is primitive to a degree. Lump silver only is used and copper 'cash.' Coined money is not current. Even in Honan city, which is distant only two days by rail from Peking, lump silver, the same cumbersome currency that has been used for centuries, is still employed. It is cut into small pieces by hammer and chisel. Every town and village has its own weights and scales, and there is no pretense at uniformity."

TOO SHORT A TIME

Wise—Why did that woman's club disband?

Sharpe—The majority adopted a resolution limiting the time of each member for speaking on any topic to two hours.
